Q: How can we achieve cooperation between experts of different disciplines?

Different kind of experts: on designing (e.g. games), programming, subject, education.

Those different experts start from their own areas of expertise.

A: "We can make use of a Linked-in group. "

Don't only use the tools, but try to engage the people using them.

Using a forum would make it possible for others as well to benefit from Q&A.

Experts on media could emphasize on the length of certain fragments (e.g. film / sound) in the mediascape.

"Remind it is a medium you can work with."
